10th Annual CSP Conference draws a large crowd at Martha's Choice Community Farm

By Kathie Mitchell
CSJ Editor

More than 300 people attended the 10th Annual CSP Conference and 45th Annual Mental Health Awards Ceremony held last month in Audubon at Martha's Choice Community Farm.

The event was held outdoors from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on May 23, 2023 under blue skies filled with plenty of sunshine. After opening remarks by Pam Howard, Administrator of the Montgomery County Dept. of Health and Human Services, Office of MH/DD/EI, the morning kicked off with Educational and Wellness Workshops.

A Tai Chi workshop was held by Mitch Goldfarb who has shared his joy of movement every year since the conference began. Goldfarb is a professor at West Chester University in the Kinesiology Department. He also leads Corporate Wellness and Mindfulness Programs in the business community. Participants in his workshop found peace, centeredness and a calming energy as they executed slow movements combined with slow, rhythmic breathing.

Tony Mascara, of World Drums, took folks on a rhythmic journey using different drums and other instruments from around the world during his session called "The Power of Rhythm, Sound & Silence." Participants learned about the history of how certain drums are made, their original purpose and reason for being created, and where the drums have migrated to in our musical world today.

and accomplishments that extend beyond the typical expectations of job description, role or position. The winners have either demonstrated exceptional personal accomplishment and resiliency, set positive examples for others, or shown outstanding dedication in their support of recovery for persons in pursuit of mental wellness.

Montgomery County Commissioners Kenneth E. Lawrence Jr. and Jamila H. Winder presented the awards to the winners during the annual Mental Health Awards Ceremony. Here are the winners:

Adrienne Kosinski, has been an Assistant Public Defender in Montgomery County for several years. During that time, she has represented numerous children who have juvenile court involvement. Throughout this time, Adrienne has shown herself to be an ardent advocate for children's rights, using a trauma-informed approach to Public Defense. There have been multiple instances where families have shared that Adrienne made herself readily available to youth and their families, and explained things in a way that helped them understand the juvenile court process and alleviated their fears. She has been involved in multiple community programs and panels, which are aimed at increasing awareness about juvenile justice issues. Adrienne has the ability to be the greatest professional while still being mindful of the fears and worries many parents experience when their children are faced with delinquency. Her system knowledge, professionalism, dedication, and commitment to being a champion for children's rights are some of the reasons Adrienne is receiving a Recovery and Resiliency Award.

Ann Connaghan is a Blended Case Manager at Merakey. She primarily supports children and transition-aged youth, and has been in the position for many years. Ann is a remarkable and dedicated support for many children and families in Montgomery County, and has a special talent for working with families who are facing complex challenges navigating the child-serving systems. Folks who work alongside Ann over the years have always been impressed with her strengths-based and collaborative approach. She supports families and youth to become their own best self-advocates, and ensures that their preferences and goals are clearly heard during meetings. Ann goes above and beyond for many families, including supporting them with things well outside of her expected scope of work, such as spending multiple hours teaching one mother how to navigate her cell phone and computer so that she could help support her child's remote learning during the pandemic. Ann often works with incredibly challenging situations, and always treats everyone involved with dignity, respect, and kindness. She collaborates magnificently with community partners, and is always looking for opportunities to connect others to resources and support.

See more winners on the next page.

The Community Satisfaction Team (CST) consists of individuals with lived experiences who have chosen to work in the field to improve the experiences of others. CST engages with individuals receiving mental health supports and services by conducting surveys to find out feedback and what they think about the services they are receiving within Montgomery County. CST does an extraordinary job actively listening to tough experiences/stories and grievances while still exhibiting grace, compassion, and being there for the individual. For these reasons, and many more, CST is receiving a Recovery and Resiliency Award. CST ➡

The Christina Jordan and her fantastic team at the Coordinated Homeless Outreach Center (CHOC) has managed to keep services available and going for the most vulnerable individuals in Montgomery County. The people supported by the CHOC have known the trauma of homelessness, and many have struggled with loss, trauma, and emotional distress prior to and during their housing crisis. In a new environment, with new neighbors, Christina and her team have pulled together to help people who have mostly been brought into an unfamiliar neighborhood, and helped them to progress towards finding a new home and achieving their goals. Throughout the recent changes, the CHOC team has maintained its values of supporting people with dignity and respect. Their steadfastness and flexibility during a very stressful year has been an inspiration to all. An immense thank you to Christina and the entire CHOC team for all they have and all they do! Congratulations on your award!

Erin Seifrit-Townsend is the Deputy Administrator for Children's Mental Health and embodies the tenants of how to holistically approach the mental wellness of children in every decision and interaction she has related to her work and leadership. Erin is systems-focused and reliably ensures consideration for children's services through the continuum of prevention through treatment. Recently, Erin secured a multi-million dollar allocation of ARPA funds to support school based Behavioral Health programming, motivated by the priority of supporting kids in their districts and communities. Through her passion, drive, dedication and determination, she has fostered collaborative relationships with all of the school districts in Montgomery County, always keeping the idea of "no wrong door" at the forefront of all she does. Erin also embodies Child and Adolescent Service System program (CASSP) principles by promoting child-centered, family-focused, community based services for every child in Montgomery County. She is steadfast in her ability to always remain trauma informed in our work and will always put others ahead of herself. Her dedication to supporting programming and services that work collaboratively with families to help keep children safe in their homes and communities is unparalleled. Erin consistently recognizes and supports the value of peer support and mutuality while simultaneously acknowledging the importance and value of clinical services and other formal supports for children. Erin models collaborative practices in everything she does and often goes above and beyond in order to connect families to help that helps. She has positivity that is contagious, and you cannot help but smile when in her presence. It is for these reasons, and so many more, Erin is receiving a Recovery and Resiliency Award.

Gene Paliescheskey, Community Development and Integration Coordinator at CommunityWorx, consistently goes above and beyond when addressing the needs of individuals in the community and at Hopeworx. He recently was instrumental in securing hundreds of toys for the HopeWorx toy drive over this past holiday season. He also assisted with the cleanup of an apartment for an individual he supported so that they would no longer be experiencing homelessness. He is always somehow able to pull together resources from the community and other providers on very short notice, and he does it all with a smile on his face. He helps folks with resources to help with food, clothes, and information. He is also never too busy to support his fellow co-workers. He is kind and thoughtful and is always helping or giving back in some way. He is very reliable, has knowledge on an abundance of resources, and above all else, is humble and never gives up. He has and continues to make a difference in so many people's lives. For these reasons, Gene is receiving a Recovery and Resiliency Award!

Lydia Schooley is amazing in every way! She consistently works towards stomping out stigma both for the overall peer profession as well as for the individuals she supports. Lydia has gone beyond to ensure everyone is eligible for peer support and she celebrates the resiliency of folks with lived experience on a daily basis. Lydia is quick to offer encouragement and support whenever and where ever it is needed, even if the person does not work with her. Lydia is a true advocate and she walks this path with such humility. She is such a kind and compassionate individual who is so supportive to all she comes across! Thank you Lydia, and congratulations on your award!

Sergeant Mark Huzzard is a kind, smart, and thoughtful contributor to the overall wellness of the Montgomery County Community. Specific to mental health, he has worked diligently in support of several projects worth highlighting. First is his role in supporting the 3 treatment/diversion courts in Montgomery County. Sergeant. Huzzard truly believes in the power of diversion and of people's ability to recover and live good lives. His presence brings additional dignity to the court process, and he often connects in a way with participants that brings them hope and helps them feel valued. Sergeant Huzzard has been a leader in his office in implementing a Pathfinder program. This program involves training sheriff's deputies in Crisis Intervention Specialist skills, and pairs trained and empathetic deputies with individuals presenting to the courthouse who may be confused, scared, or just in need of a supportive/friendly face. Sergeant Huzzard himself is trained in these skills and has employed them during his time in warrant service, where he is able to engage with folks on a human level and help them navigate what they need to do in the criminal justice system while keeping them and everyone around them safe. Sergeant Huzzard is also a military Veteran, and has played an essential role in the development of the Montgomery County Veterans Response Team (the first in the state!). Launching the team was his idea, and through his contacts at the Coatesville VA, with law enforcement, and beyond, he has been key to the success of the team. Sergeant Huzzard embodies the values of understanding the impact of trauma, and the power of peer support (the core value of the VRT is veteran-to-veteran/peer-to-peer engagement). He advocates for the mental health needs of people in crisis, and is compassionate and kind. For these reasons, Sergeant Huzzard is receiving an award.

Troy Foster works for Access Services in the Montgomery County Mobile Crisis Program. Troy has supported many individuals while being a Crisis Worker. In the past, Troy supported an individual who reported Troy was so calm, patient, kind, non-judgmental, and easy to talk with. At that moment, this individual felt so low and as if they did not have anybody in their corner or anyone to talk to. However, Troy was such a fantastic support and connected them to resources and followed up and texted them after they met to provide additional resources and to see how they were doing. This individual expressed that they finally felt heard because Troy took the time to sit with them, actively listen, and validate their thoughts and feelings. This is one example of Troy's amazing work. We thank Troy for all his work he does as a Crisis Worker, supporting folks in their darkest and hardest moments.

Also recognized during the ceremony was Justin Chamrin who received the CSP Ambassador Award. Justin has been an active member of both Montgomery County CSP and Southeast Regional CSP for the last several years, and this year, he stepped up to co-chair the Advocacy Subcommittee for the Southeast Regional Committee, and also was very active with the Montgomery County CSP Advocacy Subcommittee, speaking up at the meetings, and helping to promote the CSP Needs Assessment conducted by the committee.

Justin has shown dedication and a passion for lifting the voices of the CSP community. His advocacy and peer support models the CSP principles every day.

Another part of the program included recognition by the county Office of Mental Health of individuals and their affiliated organizations for their commitment to pursuing knowledge, skills and creating a recovery focused system of care, as demonstrated by working toward the completion of the Montgomery County Four-Part Trauma Informed Care training series.

To date, almost 800 people have completed classes in the trauma series, with over 80 completing the 24-hour series. This year, 44 individuals participated in three sessions of the four-part training series and the county is looking forward to many of them completing the series in the upcoming year.

At the ceremony, the CSP Committee also recognized the winner of the annual CSP Art Poster Contest. The winning piece was "Lionheart" which matched the theme of this year's conference, "Courage to Continue." The art work was a group project entered by The Forteniters Club. See The Forteniters Club to the right receiving their award.

FamilyWorx hosted a workshop called, “Wear it or Share it Bracelets”, where participants designed their own custom-made seed bead work bracelets. The workshop was designed to nurture creativity and connectedness. The purpose was to make a bracelet for yourself or one to share with someone who has impacted your life in a positive way.

Central Behavioral Health held a workshop called “Mindful Mantra Bracelets” where participants designed and personalized their own bracelets.

After the workshops, lunch was provided by Mission BBQ and conference attendees had time to mingle with each other while eating under a large tent or at picnic tables nestled in the shade of large trees which lined the gardens at the farm.

At 1 p.m., the Mental Health Awards Ceremony was kicked off by Pam Howard who thanked everyone for attending the event and generated some “woohoos” from the enthusiastic audience. Dr. Tamra Williams, Director of Montgomery County Health and Human Services, said she was grateful for the opportunity to attend her first conference. The Montgomery County Commissioners Chair Kenneth E. Lawrence Jr. and Vice Chair Jamila H. Winder gave out the awards to each of the recipients. (See the front page of this newsletter for information about the award winners.)

The CSP Committee was grateful to hold the conference at the beautiful 9-acre property - Martha’s Community Farm. The farm is located on the campus of St. Gabriel’s Hall in Audubon. The farm grows food for Martha’s Choice Marketplace, the largest food pantry in Montgomery County. The Community Farm is a welcoming venue for communities with limited access to agricultural opportunity.

The farm works together with pantry guests and members of the community to address today’s food system challenges and, along with many partners, offers resources that empower learning about healthy food and how to grow it together. Their programs are designed to increase connections between people across all kinds of backgrounds.

Knocking Down Pins and Barriers

Bowling Fun with CIC!

By Robin L. Campbell, CIC

On Friday, June 9, Creating Increased Connections (CIC) welcomed members of the community to Our Town Bowling Alley in East Norriton, for a day of fun and food.

The event, known as “Knocking Down Pins and Barriers,” was designed as a final goodbye to the past three years of isolation under COVID restrictions, and was a chance for old friends to reconnect and for new relationships to be made. Everyone got down to bowling after a delicious lunch buffet, featuring pizza, wings, and hoagies. Many people came on their own while some were representing our friends from Central Behavioral Health, MHP’s Trail Guides, Hopeworx, Inc., and Philadelphia’s Iris House. Everyone was smiling and enthusiastic during the event, and several people demonstrated some very impressive bowling skills.

CIC, known for bringing support groups and trainings to Montgomery County, looks forward to putting on more social events in the very near future to continue bringing joy to the community. If anyone has any ideas on what social events you would like to see CIC do next, contact Robin Campbell at robin.l.campbell@rhd.org and we will try to make it happen!

Subcommittee Reports from May 2023

Advocacy Subcommittee: The committee is planning a budget letter writing event. We drafted a letter to Josh Shapiro. The budget approval is now. Abby said Governor Shapiro is forming a task force to address mental health parity compliance with insurance companies. Inspections and exams to make sure insurance companies are following parity. If you experienced that your private insurance isn't covering your mental health like physical health. There's a number to call. Private insurance doesn't cover peer specialists or crisis. We have an excellent mobile crisis in this county. It's only paid for with public mental health dollars not private insurance. If private insurance companies paid for crisis services, we would have more money to spend on other services needed in the county.

Community Outreach Subcommittee: Scholarships for the conference in October. Grants for flag football. $75 and there's a matching source. A request for a celebration for Juneteenth was approved. A gas card for mom on disability and her daughter going to therapy was approved.

Conference Subcommittee: It's next Tuesday! Getting organized.

Awards are ready and speakers are confirmed. We hope you all registered. So far we have about 240 that have registered. We expect 300 or more. And you don't need a ticket on Eventbrite.
